

Martin Stepper strengthens CRONIMET's Ferroalloys and Powder Metallurgy Business Unit

Karlsruhe, December 16, 2019.

On 01.01.2020 Martin Stepper starts as Head of Business Unit Ferroalloys and Powder Metallurgy at CRONIMET Holding Group.

As part of its current portfolio, CRONIMET Holding is converting metal scrap and concentrates to ferroalloys, besides its historically grown trading business with those materials. "CRONIMET has a global network comprising of our own facilities, as well as through close relations with our business partners. We should take advantage of this, in order to grow our business in the area of the production and distribution of Ferroalloys and Metal Powders and to further develop ourselves sustainably. Martin has a strong metallurgical know-how and knows the production processes and requirements of melt shops very well. This is a great addition to our current team.", highlighted by Jürgen Pilarsky, CEO of CRONIMET Holding Group.
